The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Is U.S. Diplomacy Potent?

There are realities in the Kissinger-African agreement which lie under the very thin veneer of "Mr. Kissinger's success" in solving the Rhodesian problem.

No matter how badly we need a world in harmony, we must be pragmatic as we view Mr. Kissinger's "spectacular achievements" in his latest exercise in shuttle diplomacy.

It is pointed out that what the British could not do in 11 years of trying; what the Africans themselves could not do in direct negotiations with Ian Smith, the masterful Kissinger accomplishes in one sensational week of shuttle diplomacy. The stubborn and wily Rhodesian prime minister capitulates after only a few hours in the presence of the American Secretary of State.

What a power of persuasion!
Well, not exactly. The credit, alas, should go to the Soviet Union and its Cuban satellite. Kissinger won over Smith with his "peace" formula by simply pointing out the simple military and political facts of life. Rhodesians must reckon now not only with African guerrillas but with a Cuban army in southern Africa, backed up by the most modern Soviet weapons.

Kissinger made it very clear to Smith that if attacked by such forces, he could expect no help from the U.S. South Africa's John Vorster, seeing the net drawing tight around his country, apparently decided that the lesser evil lay in playing for time and throwing Rhodesia to the wolves, as demanded of him by Kissinger.

Smith and his Rhodesian whites, confronted by these military facts and desertion of their only ally—South Africa—had no viable alternative but to throw themselves on the mercy of the U.S., hoping against hope that we might salvage some future for them in the new black state of Zimbabwe.

The hope is in vain. The black leaders pocketed the concessions already made and then announced that Kissinger's formula, as conveyed to Smith, is unacceptable in major detail—notably the idea of a two-year transition to black rule. They want it, of course, immediately and entirely on their own terms. The Soviet Union, which can properly claim the credit for the white surrender, has no intention of allowing events to proceed peacefully if they can help it.

So the "triumphant" Kissinger finds himself forced to warn the Soviets against sabotaging his efforts. Since he lacks any other leverage, he summons up "detente" and warns Moscow that its distant military interventions jeopardize U.S.-Soviet relations in general.

This must provoke quite a horse laugh in the Kremlin. Kissinger was saying the same thing a year ago over Angola but the Soviets nevertheless persisted with their intervention and nothing happened. Why should they desist now?

Dr. Kissinger got a Nobel Peace Prize for presiding over the loss of Southeast Asia to communism. Perhaps he will win another for doing the same thing in southern Africa. Which brings us to the irony of the situation. While the brilliant Secretary's honors go on accumulating, the West goes right on re-treating.

GUHSD Teachers Take Field for Bargaining Progress Reports

The Grossmont Education Association will meet in mass at the Helix High School Football field tonight to hear a report on negotiations with the Grossmont Union High School District board of education on salary and benefit increases. The meeting is set from 5 to 7 p.m.

A presentation of a progress report on collective bargaining negotiations with the school board will be followed by teachers' response.

The GEA — comprised of teachers, nurses, special education instructors and other non-management personnel — have been negotiating with the school board's representative since August 3 when its first proposal was presented.

The latest counter offer asks for an 8.35 per cent salary increase, 2.6 per cent in step and class increases and other benefits.

GEA represents 750 employees in the district. The American Federation of Teachers has about 100 district members.

The firm of Patterson & Taggart, Negotiations Support Services, is handling negotiations on the school board's side of the bargaining table. GEA is backed up with assistance from the California Teachers Association.

population at 1,590,700 — an increase of 17.1 per cent since the 1970 census.

Spring Valley, with 37,300 persons, has grown 22.4 per cent since 1970 while Lemon Grove, at 23,000, has lost 1.1 per cent. Part of the Lemon Grove loss is believed due to annexations by adjacent jurisdictions.

The study shows Spring Valley with 8,671 occupied housing units and 288 vacant. Lemon Grove has 7,273 with 212 vacant.

Fastest growing in population was Del Mar-Mira Mesa — 424 per cent; Poway 127 per cent; Santee 75 per cent and Sweetwater 40 per cent.

The public comments will be considered by County officials in planning how best to use approximately $15 million of Title XX funds to provide social services for the people of San Diego County.

Helix Water Rates to Climb 7.6%

By John Kowalczyk

The Helix Water District board of directors decided Friday morning to raise water rates 7.6 per cent, effective next year.

Water commodity charges will increase from 34 to 36.6 cents per 100 cubic feet beginning January 1.

The typical residential water bill, based on consumption of 3600 cu. ft. per two-month billing cycle, will increase $9.4 to $19.43, about a 5 per cent jump.

Water commodity charges comprise only a portion of the water bill. The other half is a meter charge averaging $6.25 for the typical domestic home. The fee, fixed according to meter size, will not change this year, according to Helix general manager Clarence Watters.

The latest commodity increase totals a 40 per cent rise in water prices in four years. The 1972 commodity rate was only 26 cents.

The average domestic meter charge has risen 17.9 per cent in that time.

Water district projections show that it may be necessary to raise rates as much as 29 per cent during the next five years.

The revenue situation is reviewed annually and water rate increases are usually implemented in January, typically a low usage month.

The customer has a chance to change his water use habits and adjust to reduced consumption before high-demand months, Watters said.

The rising costs of purchasing, treating and pumping water are blamed for the rate increase.

EIR Filed

Acting on recommendations of legal counsel Paul Engstrand, the board preceded their decision by filing a negative declaration Environmental Impact Report on the increase.

Explained Joseph E. Gray, district environmental analyst who recommended the "negative declaration, filing an EIR was advisable because another California utility was sued on grounds of failing to file such report before raising rates.

A negative declaration in an EIR means no serious environmental effects are foreseen.

Gray said the increase in Helix rates may require some readjustment in water use but not enough to prevent a negative declaration.

He said the EIR might begin to show more critical effects on the environment if the cost of energy — used in treating and pumping water — continues its expected upward spiral.

Air Pollution

If severe cutbacks are necessary as a result of rising water costs, he said, it may be necessary to curtail watering shrubbery and landscape.

Reduction of greenery, it was said, is related to air pollution because foliage acts as a natural air cleanser.

"The time is coming when residents will have to abandon their exotic plants and substitute plants native to this climate which require less water," Gray said.

VLM Joins La Mesa— Lake Wins School Post

Surprises in Tuesday's election, for many, were Jimmy Carter, Sam Hayakawa, Bob Wilson and the La Mesa Reorganization. All had something in common. They were in the winner's circle.

The Ford forces may have had a premonition of losing for there was no gathering place for Ford folk election night at election central in El Cortez hotel. The Carter-Mondale people had a huge meeting room, complete with bar, a stage with volunteer entertainment — and enthusiasm.

Aging Hayakawa outdrew John Tunney, the incumbent U.S. Senator by a small margin. If Sam had been 10 years younger it would have been a landslide for him. Hayakawa — 3,588,266, Tunney — 3,390,000.

Bob Wilson, the Democrat assemblyman, put his political future on the line by giving up his post in the assembly to challenge one of the toughest campaigners in San Diego County history—Jack Schrade, 74, a 22-year veteran of the State Senate. Wilson won by a near 2-1 margin, 150,227—79,630. All returns are semi-official.

VLM to Annex

La Mesa Reorganization. The Vista La Mesa area, northwest of the community of Lemon Grove, voted to annex to La Mesa by 1544 to 631. The area which previously had indicated it wanted to join nothing, surprised many by overwhelmingly approving annexation. The determination was encouraged by the need for fire protection, a situation resulting from the Board of supervisors dropping the fire protection agreement it had with the State Division of Forestry fire fighters which had previously protected unincorporated Vista La Mesa.

The annexation removes the unincorporated island that appeared to be an obstacle to the proposed incorporation of Lemon Grove.

Now incorporation boundaries can be drawn around residents of community interest. The Lemon Grove election is scheduled for March.

Other Races

In other races of interest locally was the Lemon Grove School Board contest.

Totals — Craig Lake, 2,385, Charles P. Pennell, 2,236, Carol Chubb, 1930, Bernard Brandt, 1,365 and T. Keegan 1,197.

S.V. Park Fails

A park issue was on the Spring Valley ballot. It would form a park and recreation district to operate present and future parks.

The vote was 7,458 for, 8,167 against.

Three posts on the Grossmont hospital board went to Irene Fancher, George Hurst and Adrian Jameson. Fancher and Hurst are incumbents. Jameson, the newcomer is a medical group administrator. Jim Ellis defeated Tim Cohelan for assembly in the 77th district 60,334 to 59,311.

Pete Chacon was returned to his 79th district assembly post with Phil Andreen as challenger, 42,041 to 21,306.

Larry Kapiloff picked up vote support about midway and surged ahead of Al Couppee to win reelection in the 78th Assembly District. The semi-official result — 59,406 to 45,584.

Supervisors

In a see-saw battle for supervisor in the second district, Lucille Moore outlasted Walt Kenrick. A late vote rally gave her 67,463, Kenrick 56,956.

With Moore becoming a supervisor, the change in the makeup will be further noted during the coming years by the addition of Roger Hedgecock who unseated Lou Conde. Semi official totals were 81,973 to 56,975.

The Jack Walsh, Tom Hamilton race remained close, right to the bitter end.

Totals — Hamilton 43,979, Walsh 43,651.

Easy winners were Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin, a Democrat and Congressman Bob Wilson, a Republican.

County issues went like this:

A—Candidate's term change — no

B—Combine treasurer-tax collector jobs — yes

C—Limit terms in office — yes

D—Independent contractors — yes

E—Veterans' preference in jobs — no

F—Civil service preference in jobs — no

G—Low rent housing — yes

Several candidates voiced disappointment when the San Diego Union and Evening Tribune endorsed their opponents. One said, "It's giving him the name advantage as incumbency."

It was a record crowd at election central in El Cortez. It was also a record heat. It had reached 94 that day.

Walkie-Talkie and Jewelry in Loot

Items valued at more than $700 were stolen from the home of Jose Verdugo Castro of 639 Elkton Blvd., Spring Valley on October 27.

A walkie-talkie, two bags of valuable stones, 15 silver dollars, rings and medallions accounted for the total.

The thief entered his home through a bathroom window by cutting the screen while Castro was away, it was reported.

Temperature High Here

Election week was hot. It was like midsummer in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley areas. Sunday, the official temperature reached 82 degrees. Monday, 89 and Tuesday, 94.

Featured on the playing field before the game will be Greek chariot races and the Marching Aztecs.

VFW November Dance Is Final of the Year

The junior committee of the Lemon Grove V.F.W. sponsored Teen Dance will meet tonight at 7 to discuss next year's dance programs. The senior committee will meet at 8.

The next dance is scheduled for November 26 and that will wind it up for the year.

Dick Bales, dance chairman, said an error of date was printed on the dance tickets — and November 26 is the date. A capacity turnout for this dance is expected.

The last dance was on October 29, and, as usual, everything went smoothly. Door prizes were awarded and winners got them from Marder's Stationers, Pal's Cafe, USA Gasoline, a savings bond from VFW member Jack Martin and others. Donors are being sought for next year's series of dances.

Dances are free of charge. Sandwiches and colas are supplied free by the committee through donors.

Couple is Jungle Bound for Bible Missionary Training

Dennis and Patti Garretson of Lemon Grove are on their way to the Mexican jungles for a rigorous exposure to primitive living conditions.

They will attend "Jungle Camp," a three-month training program which is part of preparation for service with Wycliffe Bible Translators. The organization works around the world to reduce aboriginal languages to written form and translate Scripture into them.

The couple will spend a brief time in Dallas, Texas, at the International Linguistics Center, before traveling to Chiapas, the southernmost state of Mexico.

Their children — Rebekah, 3, and Sara, 3 months, will remain with them during all training.

At the Jungle Camp they will be exposed to situations designed to prepare them for the transition to another culture, for living in isolated areas and becoming integrated into an indigenous community.

Trainees learn to maneuver dugout canoes through rapids, build a home and furniture from native materials, do primitive cooking and recognize poisonous and edible plants. They will be physically conditioned by taking hikes five to 20 miles long over trails through the rain forest.

Dennis will serve as an aircraft mechanic and Patti a teacher, their former professions.

The Garretsons are members of Skyline Wesleyan Church of Lemon Grove.

Patti is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Purves of Lemon Grove.

Care Village Funds Lacking

Care Village, the 24-hour residential facility for severely multiple-handicapped children did not open as scheduled.

The Board of Directors of Friends of Handicapped Children, said the facility, was to have been opened on November 1 with ten residents 12-23 years of age but state funds were cut back and the facility will have to wait.

Care Village was built at a cost of $167,929 with privately raised funds—mostly through contributions.

The $72 million request by 21 regional centers was cut to $57 million. As a result 17 of the centers do not have sufficient operational funds.

Ultimately, Care Village would care for 50 multiple-handicapped young people. It is not known when state funds will be available.

Griffins Rocked 14-7 by Hornets

Grossmont College's chances of winning the South Coast grid conference this year were just about wiped out Saturday in Aztec Bowl where Fullerton College handed the Griffins at 14-7 loss.

The first half was all Fullerton as the Hornets outgained the Griffins, 204-43 and led 14-0.

Grossmont came back in the second half to score its only points of the Griffins first possession of the third quarter. Pat Chevalier scored from one yard and Paul LaRocca booted the point after.

Fullerton's success could be centered around the play of its defense. The Hornets blitzed the Griffins the majority of the game and laid six sacks on Griffin quarterback Jim Freitas who still managed to complete 12 of 29 passes for 116 yards. Kerry Schimpf and Mitch Bonilla caught five aerials apiece.

LeRoy McGee led the Griffins' ground game with 90 yards on 19 carries.

Defensively, the Griffins had one of their best games of the season. Led by linebacker Jay Hostetler, who was a one-man task force, the Griffins held the Conference's top offense to just 331 yards. Hostetler was credited with 11 unassisted tackles, seven assists, two fumble recoveries and one pass interception. It was Hostetler's third theft of the year and the Griffins' 17th as a team.

The Griffins are now 1-2 in conference play and 4-3 for the year so they'll have to play the role of spoiler during the final three contests of the 1976 season. Grossmont's three losses this fall have been by a total of nine points.

Grossmont will be in Santa Ana Bowl Saturday at 7:30.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Padre talent chief Bob Fontaine has pared his shopping list down to a final few and E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi has Ray Kroc's check book in hand for space age bargaining in New York today (Thursday) for baseball's first annual "re-entry draft."

Today's doings are probably the most important event in the history of the game since Jackie Robinson broke the color line back in 1947.

Each of the properties on the block today has played out his option and is considered, with certain limitations, a free agent. They are thus breaking the eternal ownership line.

Today's sale seems a natural for Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. He always did give the impression of being a hungry used car salesman.

Teams get to pick over the crop in inverse order to the season's final standings and a flip of the coin gave Montreal and the National League first shot. Two players is the limit, unless a team lost more than a pair of players in the proceedings, in which case a team may try to sign as many as it lost.

A player can be selected by 12 teams and deal with all and his old club. He is limited to negotiations with clubs selecting him and his old team unless he is selected by less than three teams. He would then be available to all.

The top pick, according to Reggie Jackson, late of the Baltimore Orioles, is Reggie Jackson. He is worth, he claims, a multi-million dollar contract, but he also wants to play in a city where there are outlets for his non-playing talents.

Reggie is "into" sports broadcasting and commercial making. He really doesn't care where he plays, as long as it is somewhere in New York.

His words have not fallen on deaf ears. Neither Bavasi, nor Fontaine came into baseball just yesterday by falling off the turnip truck.

"We'll take the best player available," hedged Fontaine, "that we think we can sign."

Fontaine insists he is not leaning toward any one position, and while almost any class player would fill a Padre need, he does admit the primary prerequisite of their first choice, other than signability, is offensibility.

"The beauty of the draft," Fontaine explains, "is that we don't have to give up anything except money. And we can improve our club with two quality players."

"You can't buy quality players. You can draft them and hope they develop to the talent you thought you saw in them, or you can trade equally talented players, but then all you do is change names. You really haven't gained."

It's no secret the Padres are looking for a heavy hitting outfielder, a wide ranging second baseman and a catcher to share the load with Kendall.

Needs of lesser priority include another starting and a left-handed relief pitcher to team up with Butch Metzger for heavy stopping duties.

Fontaine thinks a successful draft today and one major trade may fill enough Padre needs to produce a contender in San Diego Stadium next summer. Barring injuries, of course, and if the creek don't rise.

While Reggie seems to have talked himself out of consideration, San Francisco outfielder Gary Nathaniel Matthews has played and hit himself into the unqualified esteem of Padre talent judges. And at 26 years of age, he is just coming into his own. And almost the same thing can be said for Joe Rudi.

If someone of Matthews or Rudi's credentials is selected and signed, Padre talent trusts will be free to address other areas of concern. A second successful selection would be all gravy.

And things get a bit more complicated when one remembers the American League will hold its expansion draft tomorrow and either Seattle or Toronto could draft a player or players to fulfill a trade already made.

Expansion clubs can afford to give up known quality for hopeful quantity. And all this happens before the mid-winter meetings where trades and talks of trades are featured on the menu.

And here all the time you thought baseball was over until Spring Training.

USAC National Sprinters Booked for Cajon Track

EL CAJON — J. C. Agajanian, dean of the nation's automobile racing organizers, will bring USAC National Championship Sprint Car racing to the San Diego area for the first time in more than 40 years, when he stages an eight-event program at the Cajon Speedway here on Sunday afternoon, November 14th.

The race will be the first in the San Diego area for the powerful sprinters, driven by the stars of the Indianapolis $7,500 purse for the day's action on the 3/8-mile paved oval.

The last National Championship Sprint-Car race was to be run in the San Diego area was in the mid-1930's at the old Silvergate Speedway located on the strand at Mission Bay.

The race is one of four being staged in California over a nine-day period by Agajanian, two will be held at Ascot Park in Los Angeles and the final at the San Jose Speedway.

40 Cars Due

Expected to head a 40-car field is Duane "Pancho" Carter who has scored 12 USAC Sprint-Car wins already this year and has his second USAC National Sprint-Car driving title on ice.

The 26-year-old graduate of Cal State Long Beach, won the "Rookie of the Year" honors in the 1974 Indianapolis 500, and finished fourth in the 1975 Hoosier racing classic. This year he drove Dan Gurney's Jorgensen Steel Eagle to a fifth-place finish in the rain-shortened 500.

They will face a talent-laden field of local CRA Sprint-Car stars including 1975 CRA champion Bobby Olivero, current point leader Jimmy Osie, third-ranked Rick Goudy, and home-town favorite Don Hamilton of El Cajon.

Racing will start at 2:30 p.m., preceded by time trials at 1 p.m. Gates will open at 11 a.m. Advance sale tickets are on sale at all Ticketron outlets in Southern California.

24 Horses Listed In TJ Futurity

TIJUANA — A full field of talented 2-year-old horses will go postward on Sunday, November 14, in the second annual Agua Caliente Futurity. A $20,000 added event, the race is expected to have a gross value of $40,000 and is over the mile and one sixteen-th course.

The Futurity opened earlier this year with 100 nominations and 75 remained eligible with the second payment on July 1. The final payment to remain in the field was to have been made last Saturday and about 24 horses were expected to still be in line for the November 14 race.

California horses with proven racing credentials and likely to be in the Futurity include: Chairman of the Board, Bijou Country, Cold Courage, Sold Short, Isle E. Bold and Positiveness.

Caliente-campaigned juveniles with proven ability, include: Lichi Lichi, Angel The Tout and Baja's Pride.

The famed Harbor View Farm of New York has a pair of horses in line for the Caliente Futurity — Positiveness and Isle of Paradise. Well-known trainer Lazlo Barrera handles the twosome.

California riders expected down for the event include Francisco Mena, last year's winner of the Futurity; Frank Olivares, one of the top money winners on the California circuit; and Laffit Pincay, Jr., the number one rider in North America at the present time in both races won and money earned. Sandy Hawley, right behind Pincay in both departments, has indicated he may ride Cold Courage.

Platform Tennis Playoffs in June

Plans for the World Series of Platform Tennis, to be held in San Diego in June, 1977, will be nailed down this month when the Cabrillo Athletic Club attends the annual meeting of the American Platform Tennis Association (APTA).

The event has already been approved by APTA and the October 25th meeting in New York City will finalize date and details of eligibility, prize money and full sanction by the Association.

The three-day invitational tourney, scheduled for a 32 team entry, double elimination format, will bring the finest-platform tennis players in the nation to San Diego.

Powerhouse teams from the East, which has traditionally dominated the sport, will be invited to compete with winners of the San Diego Platform Tennis League and other top local teams.

The tournament will be held at the Cabrillo Athletic Club, which has the only regulation night-lighted platform tennis courts in San Diego.

Colts With 39 QB Sacks, To Stalk Dan Fouts Sun.

There was an obvious lack of intensity among the Chargers offensive groupies when they were guests of the Steelers in Pittsburgh Sunday. But the defense did very well most of the time.

If the offense could become as effective as the defense it would be "hello, playoffs."

Head coach Tommy Prothro gave a good nutshell review—"Our defense looked good for 55 minutes." The non-scoring offense didn't get a verbal call from him. Probably it was just as well. A 23-0 score doesn't need much exposition. It was 3-0 midway in the third quarter which gives a better idea of how it was.

Today's Charger offense is prone to crowd-watching, or something, while the enemy sacks the quarterback. That situation may become chronic this week when the "Sack Happy" Baltimore Colts arrive at the Stadium. The Colts on Monday night added six sacks to their total—now 39.

Monday night the Colts showed they were "Sack Happy". They added six sacks to bring their total to 39. Those who watched the Colts decimate the Oilers on Monday night teevee will walk into the Stadium Sunday with the eerie feeling that they may see a repeat soon after the referee blows his whistle for the 1:06 kickoff.

For those who have forgotten, the Colts routed the Oilers 38-14 with the two Oiler touchdowns, appearing to be acts of mercy. Rushes were 268 to 83, passing 190 to 107 and first downs 25 to 12. It was awsome.

The Colts, now 7-1 and winners of 16 of its last 17 regular-season NFL games do not give the appearance of letting down.

A bright spot in the Charger line up is wide receiver Charlie Joiner.

Acquired from Cincinnati in an off-season trade for Coy Bacon, Joiner has sparked the Chargers by catching 33 passes for 763 yards, a 23.1 yard average and four touchdowns. He leads all National Football League receivers in yards gained after eight games.

Joiner, a 5-foot-11, 188-pound eight-year veteran from Gram-bling, fits the big play mold of all-time Charger pass-catching stars Lance Alworth and Gary Garrison. Alworth averaged 19.4 yards for each of his 493 Charger career receptions. Garrison had an 18.6 average for 404 catches before being sidelined early this year by a shoulder separation.

His career average was 17.8 yards for 165 catches before arriving in San Diego. On a young Charger team, Charlie has been the consistently outstanding element. Here is his game-by-game catch and yardage performance:

At Kansas City—4 for 59; at Tampa Bay—3 for 59; St. Louis—5 for 134; at Denver—5 for 105; Oakland—5 for 108; Houston—2 for 106; at Cleveland—5 for 94; at Pittsburgh—4 for 98.

In addition to catches and yards, Joiner has collected accolades.

Prothro: "Joiner has helped us in many ways. First, he's a deep threat that we haven't had. He doesn't have blazing speed but he has good speed and a good change of pace. He's a real fine receiver and a fine runner after he catches the ball. He's been a good influence on our football team."

Offensive coordinator Bill Walsh: "Joiner is a real technician, the most technically competent receiver in the league. He's an expert in his business. Some are bigger and faster. But as far as being a technician, he's the best."

Quarterback Dan Fouts: "Charlie is the best receiver I ever played with. He's a real pleasure to work with. He's extremely intelligent, like a coach on the field."

Assistant general manager Tank Younger, himself a pride of Grambling: "Charlie's a super guy and a super ballplayer."

As for his new football home in San Diego, Joiner said:

"I'm happy here. We have a good young team which is going to get better and better. San Diego is a great city and I love to play on the grass in the stadium."

The love affair among San Diego, the Chargers and Charlie Joiner is strictly mutual.

Mariners Home for Pair With Houston, Indianapolis

Coach Ingram's San Diego Mariners return from a six-game road trip to host Houston, Saturday, and Indianapolis, Sunday, in WHA activity this weekend.

Both Sports Arena contests begin at 7 p.m. and Saturday's game with Houston is highlighted by Photo Night, with picture packs of seven Mariners presented to all in attendance.

Following the weekend pair of games, San Diego departs for three more road appearances — a demanding schedule that includes only two home faceoffs in 11 outings.

The Mariners are currently in a four-way struggle with Houston, Phoenix and Winnipeg for the WHA's Western Division leadership so points are critical.

Houston means the arrival of the Howe clan, paced by 48-year-old Gordie and including sons Mark and Marty. Gordie annually fails to show his age and opened his 29th major league campaign this season by scoring in the Aeros' first seven games.

Spoilers

Houston lost the WHA's championship series to Winnipeg last year after two straight titles but is back again to threaten, blending a solid attack with the goaltending of Ron Grahame and a tough defense.

The Texas icers, who have eliminated San Diego in playoff competition the past two years, got a big boost with the acquisition of rough winger Cam Connor from Phoenix.

Indianapolis, Sundays foe, hasn't fared well against the Mariners, San Diego showing eight wins and four ties in their last 12 confrontations. The Racers' Hugh Harris and Former Gulls have added goals in recent play. Sandy Fitzpatrick and Willie O'Ree have contributed points for the high-scoring sharks.

San Diego will play at the Mira Mesa House of Ice every Sunday this month including a Saturday evening affair on November 27 against one of the top semi-pro teams on the West Coast, the Fresno Falcons.

USD Face Kingsmen

The USD Toreros are off to Thousand Oaks for a Saturday grid game against the highly ranked Cal Lutheran College Kingsmen (6-1).

USD is coming off a 30-10 beating by Cal State L.A. last week. Defensive back Mike Ramirez scored the only touchdown for the Toreros.

The Kingsmen were ranked sixth in the nation before they beat USU 24-14 last week.

Next week is USD Homecoming and the final game of the season will be at 1:30 against St. Mary's.

Jumper on Teevee

Former Notre Dame football coach Parseghian hosts such top athletes as Jack Nicholas, Arthur Ashe, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Pele and Reggie Jackson during the "how-to" segment of each weekly half-hour program aimed at youth 17 and under.

Referee Disqualifies Wrong Wrestler—Fired

There was excitement election night at the professional wrestling matches at the Coliseum.

Ken Mantell had just delivered a "pledifier hold" on Raul Manta in a title fight. The referee, Pretty Boy Barker, disqualified the wrong wrestler and the crowd became unruly. Promoter Danny Millsap finally had to call a squadron of police to get Barker out of the building—but not until after Millsap fired him for his transgression.

Which leads us into next week's battle. Raul Mata's brother Carlos has demanded a revenge match with Mantell. That match will headline the card Tuesday night starting at 7:30 — with a new referee.

In a mask vs. mask battle, Super Scorpion meets the Original Mr. Mexico. Time limit, and disqualification regulations have been eliminated. The loser must bare his face.

In a Punishment match, the Hangman faces Scorpion II. In that bout the winner will have two minutes in the ring to do whatever he pleases to the loser. Think about that!

Jack Armstrong meets Butcher Vachon and another bout with the principals yet to be announced are also carded. The Coliseum is at 15th and E. $1 discount is given to youngsters and seniors.

Rotary Clubs Offer Educational Grants

Applications for the Rotary (Clubs) International Foundation educational awards and group study exchanges are now being taken by Rotary clubs in Southern California.

The Spring Valley and the Lemon Grove Rotary clubs are taking part in the project through which 1,400 recipients, worldwide, will share in the $7.5 million program.

Interested persons may apply for grants in the 1978-79 awards. Deadline is March 1, 1977.

Meanwhile, the Foundation is also sponsoring 110 Group Study Exchange teams of young business and professional men who will travel abroad to study economic, social and cultural conditions of their host country and develop personal acquaintances and exchange ideas.

Under this program a six-member team from this area will visit Japan early in 1977 to return a visit to Southern California by a similar group from the Nagoya area.

Rotary Foundation Educational grants include costs of round-trip transportation, tuition, books, laboratory fees, meals, lodging, language training, if needed, and educational travel.

46,000 Get Jobs; Thousands Needed

California's state employment offices made a total of 46,469 job placements in September.

Total job placements made by the State's Employment Development Department during the first nine months of the year totaled 384,670.

At the end of September, the Department had another 628,078 on file as applicants seeking work.

Bank Bares Home Loan Locales

Bank of America, in response to a mandate of the 1976 Home Mortgage Disclosure Act, announced it will make public the location by zip code of all residential real estate and home improvement loans made during 1975.

The report is now available at 17 designated Bank of America offices throughout California.

The federal law is a response to charges by citizen groups and local and state governments that lenders "redline" by denying loans or applying more stringent terms for home loans because of geographical location and neighborhood characteristics which include aging properties.

Sharks, British Whale Arrive at Sea World

Eight live sharks and a 7000-pound killer whale are new residents at Sea World.

The two nurse sharks and six lemon sharks, ranging from six to ten feet long, are transplants from the Florida Keys. Considered non-aggressive, the newcomers will thrive on a variety of frozen foods at the marine park.

The park expects to open a live shark exhibit in two years.

The killer whale is Winston, a hefty 19-foot 8-inch sea mammal who arrived last week on a DC 8 cargoliner from London, England. Winston outgrew his living quarters at Windsor Safari Park.

Winston celebrated his arrival in San Diego by gulping down 80 pounds of mackerel and herring laced with whale vitamins. Next day he regained his appetite and swallowed another 110 pounds of fish.

Massing of the Colors

Mission Valley Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Auxiliary 3787 will carry their colors to the Massing of the Colors ceremony to be held Sunday at the Organ Pavilion in Balboa Park. The ceremony is sponsored annually by the Military Order of World Wars San Diego Chapter.

Many other military and civic groups will join the Veterans of Foreign Wars in this colorful and patriotic event. The massing will commence at 2:00 p.m.

Kyhl Smeby, senior vice president and chairman of the bank's City Improvement and Restoration activities in California, said, "While many groups feel the variation in loan terms makes it more difficult to stem and reverse the process of decline, they acknowledge that the actions of financial institutions are not the sole, or even the primary, contributor to the deterioration of neighborhoods."

To turn problem communities around, Smeby said, will require cooperative effort from local government, local communities and commercial lenders. "The task is too complex to be accomplished by lenders alone," he said. "City governments and residents must accept their portion of the burden."

Smeby said Bank of America has initiated more flexible, but still sound, lending practices for home purchases and home rehabilitation in urban areas.

Two programs to help resolve the problems of urban lending are already in operation: the bank's New Opportunity Home Loan Program begun in 1968, and the newer City Improvement and Restoration Program.

"Society can't indefinitely expect large numbers of people, including the poor and elderly, to live in substandard housing," Smeby continued, "Yet we know of no miracle that will correct the situation."

"Looking ahead, Bank of America and other financial institutions can assume a major role in developing innovative approaches to the housing problems on a sound, business-like basis. But this will be possible only through cooperative efforts and hard work."

Revenge of Montezuma Aimed at Spartans Sat.

San Diego State will try to get a measure of Montezuma's Revenge, for a 31-7 defeat at the hands off San Jose State football team last year, when the Aztecs host the Spartans at 7:30 p.m. in San Diego Stadium.

The Aztecs are currently 6-1 on the season after defeating Texas (El Paso) last week 27-16 while San Jose State is 6-3 after whipping Santa Clara 50-15.

San Diego State had to rally from a 16-7 halftime deficit to beat El Paso. The Aztec defense shutout the Miners in the second half and handed the offense the ball in good field position three times to set up scores.

The Aztecs, who were playing without their top two tailbacks, David Turner and Ollie Brown, managed just 88 net yards rushing and 128 passing. Turner, who ranks fifth in the nation in rushing, is expected to play against San Jose State after missing two and three quarters games.

Linebackers Mike Douglass, Travis Hitt, Whip Walton and Paul Brandow all had super games against El Paso, accounting for 37 primary tackles and assisting on 35 others. Douglass graded out as the defensive point leader with seven tackles, five assists, two pass rushes and five quarterback sacks for 51 points. Hitt had 14 tackles and eight assists and had 50 points.

San Jose State had an easy time with Division II Santa Clara. The Spartans rolled up 453 yards total offense with 300 of those coming through the air.

Spartan quarterback Steve DeBerg completed 12 of 19 passes for 199 yards and three scores while fullback Lewis Nelson rushed for 78 yards on nine carries and tailback James Tucker 70 yards on 18 carries. San Jose's leading rusher, Rick Kane, was held to 16 yards on eight carries and was hampered by a lingering hip pointer.

"I think with a healthy Turner back in the lineup and a big crowd cheering for us that will be all the emotional edge we need," Aztec head coach Claude Gilbert said.

Sedan Racers Open At S.B. Track Sun.

Gary Becroft, the Lemon Grove aircraft mechanic who has done so well on asphalt tracks, and three-time Tijuana winner Ken Snelling have notified Sedan Racing Assn. officials that they are preparing cars for competition in Sunday's 40-lap stock car feature at South Bay Park Speedway.

Gates open at 11 a.m. and time trials are slated for an expected 40-car field at noon. A trophy dash for the fastest cars will begin at 2 p.m.

To gain dirt-track experience Becroft went to Tijuana last week and led the main event for 20 laps before being sidelined with a broken axle. However, Snelling, a Bonita driver with a red-hot Firebird, captured the main event, his third across the border.

$5 Mil Dropped From S'Water Flood Project

A proposed $5 million amendment to the Sweetwater River flood control program was dropped from waterways funding legislation in the waning moments of the 94th Congress.

Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Texas, chairman of the House Water Resources Subcommittee, said the request was premature because plans for using the money are still under review.

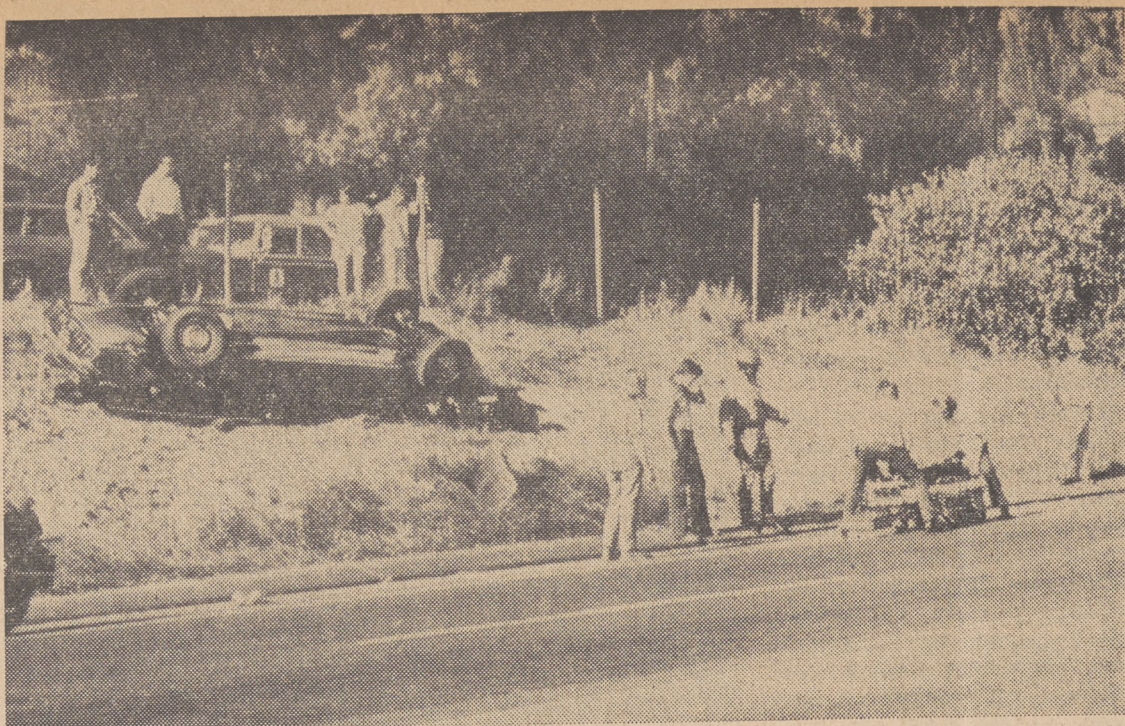

The new money would be used to counter adverse environmental effects of the 3.4-mile flood control channel extending from Bonita Mesa Road to the bay. Under recently enacted environmental protection laws, the project cannot be constructed unless "mitigating" measures, which the $5 million would pay for, are also undertaken.

"We asked the Army Corps of Engineers to provide us information on this matter, and they informed us that their proposed mitigation plan was still in the very earliest stages of review," Rep Roberts said in a letter to Rep. Lionel Van Deelen, a backer of the project.

"Accordingly, we were unable to include it in the water resources development legislation which passed on the final day of Congress," Roberts said.

However, he assured Van Deelen the funding request will be taken up when the Army Engineers file completed plans with the subcommittee.

The Army Engineers plan to purchase 172 acres near the flood control project to use as parks and wildlife preserves.

FREWAY FLIP INJURES DRIVER — Dennis Hughes, 16, of 4168 Camino Paz, Spring Valley, is placed on stretcher at scene of an accident Monday afternoon on Rt. 94. Hughes was westbound on 94 when just beyond the Spring St. on-ramp he lost control of his vehicle. The car veered up onto the embankment and flipped, ejecting the driver, according to a Highway Patrol officer. Hughes was taken to Grossmont Hospital where his condition was listed as guarded with multiple lacerations and possible internal injuries.

Index Shows Decline in San Diego Buying Power

It got more expensive to live in San Diego during the past year. The buying power of the consumer dollar continued to decline, according to the October "San Diego Economic Bulletin."

San Diego metropolitan area consumers paid 5.9 per cent more for goods and services in August than they did during the same month last year, the report shows.

The local Consumer Price Index rose 72.1 per cent above the 1967 level. Purchase power of a consumer dollars dropped to 58.5 cents compared to its full worth in 1967.

On the plus side, the annual cost of living rise in August was the lowest August-to-August increase recorded in four years.

During the year, housing prices recorded the largest general category increase at 7.5 per cent. Health and recreation expenses were second with a 7.3 per cent gain. The "food away from home" category was up 11.8 per cent over last year, the largest single yearly increase.

The Economic Bulletin is a monthly publication of the Economic Research Bureau of San Diego.

Disabled Vets Get 8% More Benefits

Veterans who receive compensation for service-connected disabilities from the Veterans Administration now receive an 8 per cent increase in their monthly payments as a result of legislation signed into law by the President.

The increases were effective October 1, and were reflected for the first time in checks received November 1. Increase was also extended to nearly 320,000 surviving spouses and children who receive dependency and indemnity compensation from the VA.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local U.S. Internal Revenue Service office and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The questions are those most frequently asked IRS.

Q. My three children are members of various non-profit organizations. I often give them money for fees to picnics, carnivals and other fund raising activities the groups sponsor. Are these fees tax deductible?

A. Contributions made to any qualified non-profit organization involved solely in charitable work are deductible. However, the contribution is deductible only to the extent it exceeds any benefits you receive.

For example, if one of the non-profit organizations had a picnic and the fee was $10 for the family, you must subtract the cost of the meal from your contribution. If the meal costs $5, you can deduct the additional $5 as your contribution to the organization.

Q. I am receiving a divorce after being separated from my husband for a year. I have custody of our 13-year-old daughter and have been her sole support. Can I claim the child as a dependent?

A. When parents are divorced or separated, generally, the parent who has custody of the child for the greater part of the year may claim the dependency exemption. The exceptions to the rule involve situations where the other parent contributes to the support of the child.

Since you are the sole support of the child, you can claim the exemption when you file your Federal tax return. You may also be able to file as "unmarried head of household," by checking that filing status block on the Form 1040 or 1040A you file.

Q. Due to a job-related injury, I recently retired from Federal employment before reaching mandatory retirement age. Since I will receive a disability pension, how should that be reported on my Federal income tax return?

A. You should declare the total amount of your disability pension for the tax year on Form 1040. Since your retirement plan provides for payment of a disability pension upon becoming permanently disabled before reaching mandatory retirement age, some or all of the amounts you receive until you reach the mandatory retirement age may be excludable as sick pay. That amount is also entered on Form 1040. Any amount you receive that exceeds the portion of disability payments excludable as sick pay is taxable income.

If you determine that you have a sick pay exclusion, attach Form 2440, Sick Pay Exclusion, to your income tax return.

For more specific guidelines, refer to IRS Publication 567, Tax Information on U. S. Civil Service Retirement and Disability Retirement, and IRS Publication 575, Tax Information on Pension and Annuity Income, available at most IRS offices.

DMV Offers Aid To Disabled

To the disabled person who may have to park on the outer fringes of a crowded parking lot, the intervening sea of cars can become a difficult or impossible obstacle course.

The Department of Motor Vehicles can help, according to DMV Director Herman Silas.

"DMV issues a distinctive license plate designed to help eliminate such barriers for the disabled," Silas said. "The plates carry a unique letter and number series that entitle the person to special parking privileges, such as the use of close-in parking now set aside for the disabled at most shopping centers."

Vehicles without disabled person license plates can be towed away if parked in spaces designated for the disabled. Local law enforcement bodies were given the tow-away authority under legislation which went into effect in January.

Disabled-plate-holders may also park free for an unlimited amount of time in a metered parking slot. The plates do not allow special parking in bus stops, loading zones, or other prohibited areas.

California's Vehicle Code defines a disabled person as one "who has lost, or has lost the use of, one or more limbs or both hands or is so severely disabled as to be unable to move without the aid of a mechanical device."

Applications for the plates may be obtained from any of DMV's 147 field offices. Disabled-person plates are subject to all regular registration and vehicle license fees, but no additional fees are charged. For one commercial vehicle registered to a disabled person, the weight fee can be waived.

The special plates may also be used on a vehicle not registered to a disabled person if the vehicle is used primarily to transport a disabled person.

DMV also issues a separate license plate series for disabled or blind veterans. The disabled veteran plates are exempt from all registration and vehicle license fees. Applications are available at all departmental offices.

Area Men In Uniform

Chief Harry Jones

Navy Chief Fire Control Technician Harry W. Jones Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Jones Sr. of 8172 Mt. Vernon, Lemon Grove, participated in the NATO Exercise "Display Determination" in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is a crewmember aboard the patrol gunboat USS Douglas, deployed with the U. S. Sixth Fleet. His command joined with naval forces from Portugal, Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom for the combined exercise which included convoy operations, amphibious assault landings and anti-submarine warfare maneuvers.

The primary objective of the exercise was to train NATO naval forces in combined sea operations, to refine NATO procedures and ensure that operational plans were current.

Participating units evaluated increased standardization of doctrines, equipment and armaments among NATO forces, plus command and control procedures for coordinated action by NATO sea, land and air forces.

The convoy operation tested Allied capabilities to reinforce and resupply ground forces in Southern Europe. Acting as opposing forces, NATO units simulated surface, subsurface and air attacks along the convoy's route.

"Display Determination" was one of a series of annual operations, conducted each fall from Norway to Turkey, designed to provide unified and coordinated training of national and NATO forces within the Allied European Command.

A 1961 graduate of Mt. Miguel High School, he joined the Navy in October 1962.

Stull Named to STOP-OSHA Group

Senator John Stull has announced his selection as a member of the American Conservation Union's STOP-OSHA National Advisory Board.

Stull is a member of the ACU and served this year on the California Senate Industrial Relations Committee's Subcommittee on Cal-OSHA, which held hearings on the implementation of California's version of the Occupational Safety and Health Act and sponsored several legislative proposals to ease the costly burdens imposed upon businessmen by the conflicting and unrealistic regulations devised by these new bureaucracies.

"The horrors of OSHA are innumerable," Stull said, "both in California and nationwide. The STOP-OSHA committee will serve as a needed clearinghouse of information about this law, lobby for legislation to reform it substantially or repeal it, and create a legal defense fund to assist businessmen challenging OSHA in the courts."

Chairman of the STOP-OSHA project is Idaho U. S. Representative George Hansen, with ACU Chairman M. Stanton Evans serving as

STOP-OSHA Vice Chairman.

Other members of the National Advisory Board include California Congressman William Ketchum and John Rousset and North Carolina U.S. Senator Jesse Helms.

OSHA Cost Questioned
Stull noted that one reason he voted against California's 1976-77 state budget was the deletion of funding for a project to determine the costs to California businessmen of conforming with Cal-OSHA.

"It would have been good to know these costs," Stull said, "so that we might figure them as a percentage of the estimated $2.5 billion in 1972 and the $3.2 billion in 1973 which compliance costs nationally."

It is estimated that complete compliance will cost business—and thus U. S. consumers—some $31.6 billion. We need to know more about the impact in California.

"But of course, Governor Brown and the OSHA-crats do not want the public to know what the program is costing," Stull charged. "No one in this state administration is interested in allowing the people to know how much they are paying to have their lives regulated by faceless, nameless bureaucrats."

Closer Inspection Shows Bigger Loss

Paul Cecil Crane of 1707 Skyline dr., Lemon Grove, reported to sheriff's deputies on October 26 that his residence had been burglarized of a camera and piggy bank with a total value of $78.

Upon closer inspection he discovered that a recorder worth $45; a transoceanic radio - $85 and various pieces of jewelry valued at $500 were also missing.

He adjusted his loss from $78 to $708.

He was away when the loss occurred.

CHP, Forest Service Team for Vehicle Abatement Project

The California Highway Patrol's abandoned-vehicle cleanup program is being expanded onto federal lands in a cooperative venture with the U. S. Forest Service.

USFS has agreed to survey 23 million acres of California forest land under its jurisdiction and provide CHP with the numbers and locations of abandoned vehicles. CHP will arrange for abatement through its field offices or local governments which are already under contract with the CHP to remove derelict vehicles in their localities.

No one has any idea yet how many junked vehicles have been dumped on federal lands, but CHP abandoned-vehicle units estimates thousands, it was reported.

More than 110,000 vehicles have been removed and salvaged during the three years the program has been in operation.

Lake Loses Calculators

A $40 calculator and several credit cards were taken from the vehicle belonging to Dell Ezra Lake of 1507 Dupont st. in Lemon Grove.

The stolen items were in his auto parked at his residence while he was in the house, he told police on October 26.

Electric Heated Homes Get More Lifeline Credit

Electricity customers of San Diego Gas & Electric should be sure to fill out the questionnaire in their October bills to notify the utility whether they use electricity to heat their homes and their water, the California Public Utilities Commission advised.

If they don't, they may not be able to take full advantage of lifeline rates recently established by the PUC.

The utility mailed declaration forms to their customers this fall. SDG&E has received about 31,500 of their expected 57,000.

Customers using electricity for space and water heating will be eligible for higher lifeline allowances, which over the next few years will mean lower electric bills.

Pursuant to the Miller-Warren Lifeline Act, residential users receive basic minimum amounts of energy at low rates amounts of energy at low food refrigeration, water heating, and home heating.

The amount of each customer's lifeline allowance depends on geographic location, climate, and types of energy used in the home.

Rates for lifeline allowances will remain frozen at present levels and any future increases in electric rates will be passed along to those who use more than lifeline allowances and to classes of service other than residential until such time as all rates of the utility have gone up 25% on the average. "Those who fail to claim their allowance may be paying higher bills than they need to in the future," the PUC said.

The PUC urged those who have not already returned their lifeline declaration forms to contact the utility's local office for information or claim forms.

DISTINGUISHED ACHIEVEMENT — Two Lemon Grove businessmen have won the Ford Division's Distinguished Achievement Award. Donald L. LeRoux, vice president of Corral Ford, in Lemon Grove, and F. Lyle Conway, the firm's president, are shown with the award which was presented to them recently at a ceremony at the Kona Kai club in San Diego. The award recognizes "progressive management, modern sales and service facilities, sound merchandising practice and continued interest in rendering superior service to Ford owners." It's the 14th year the firm has won the award.

Home Premium Plan Offers Variable Interest Rate

A variable rate home loan service was added recently at Bank of America.

The new "Vari-Rate" program will make available real estate loans for single-family dwellings at interest rates keyed to a cost-of-funds index maintained by a federal agency.

The bank predicts the "Vari-Rate" loan will become its primary means of financing single-family units in the state. The initial interest rate and origination fee on this type of loan will be lower than for fixed-rate conventional loans.

The minimum rate for a Vari-Rate single-family home loan will be 9 per cent, while the basic rate for a fixed-rate loan will be 9 1/2 per cent, the bank said. These minimum rates will be subject to change. The origination fee for a Vari-Rate loan will be 1/2 point less than the minimum fee for a fixed-rate conventional loan.

The bank has been testing the concept of variable rate home loans in San Diego County since May.

In announcing the statewide loan program, George Haley, senior vice president for real estate loans, said, "Fixed-rate home loans with long maturities are becoming less attractive to financial institutions in an inflationary climate."

He described the new loan as a natural alternative to reductions in the amount of funds available for such loans.

"It will help assure that the spread for the bank will stay relatively constant up to certain limits and also will help insure that funds for new real estate loans will be available in the future," Haley said.

Traditionally, a customer who obtains a home loan during a period of high interest rates continues to pay that rate even when market rates drop — or pays a substantial pre-payment premium for refinancing.

The customer selecting a variable rate home loan can take advantage of any future drops in rates. Of course, future interest rate increases aren't as advantageous. At the time of review, a rate change is made when the spread between the customer's loan rate and the cost-of-funds index increases or decreases by more than 1/4 per cent from what it was when the loan was made. The index is published twice a year by the Federal Home Loan Bank of San Francisco.

There is no limit on the total amount that the rate may decrease, the bank said. However, the rate may increase by no more than 2 1/2 per cent from the original rate during the life of a loan.

The bank said a Vari-Rate borrower may repay any portion of the loan with no pre-payment premium, provided the payment is made either within 95 days following the mailing date of a rate-increase notification or at anytime when the loan's current interest rate is higher than its initial rate.

The bank's customers may choose to apply for either Vari-Rate or fixed-rate loans regardless of the amount. Applications and appraisal procedures, credit policy and other loan elements will be the same for both variable and fixed-rate loans.

Diet Plan Can Curb Child Hyperactivity

Hyperactive children and the Feingold Diet will be the subject of a Parent Education meeting to be held at Vista La Mesa School Auditorium, 7101 Pearson st., on Wednesday, November 10, at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Bobbi Cooper of the Feingold Association of San Diego.

The Feingold Diet is a special diet that is helping many children overcome their hyperactivity without the need to resort to drugs. Mrs. Cooper's son was a hyperactive child and on drugs until he was put on the Feingold diet.

All interested parents are invited to attend the meeting. There is no charge.

Rancho S.D. Grows

The purchase of 34 single family residential lots by a leading developer sparked into being a new community at Rancho San Diego.

Biddle/Carter Development Corp. has purchased the lots in Rancho SD's Sweetwater Village West from American Building Arts.

The three- and four-bedroom homes in the $2.3 million development will be $53,000-$67,000 and will have shake roofs and panoramic views of the surrounding Jamacha Valley.

LG School Board Stands Firm

Parents Renew Complaint on Bus Cuts

By John Kowalczyk

The Broadway Heights Community Association was back in force at last week's Lemon Grove School Board meeting. About ten residents from the southwest fringe of the school district showed up to amplify their concern over the cutting of free bus service to junior high students effective this fall.

Hearings were scheduled during two preceding board meetings. Last week, however, the parents spoke during time set aside for citizens' concerns.

Citing the need for a new bus and the fact that state subsidy of public transportation had steadily declined in recent years, the board voted this summer to begin phasing out school bus service by cutting all junior high riders.

The District will continue busing elementary students.

Kindergarten through second graders are transported to and from school at district expense if they live more than 3/4 mile away. Third through sixth graders get free rides if they live beyond 1 1/2 miles from school.

The board stood firm on their decision and have furthermore discussed the eventual phase-out of all transportation.

Formerly, a student in junior high was eligible for busing if he lived more than two miles from school. This fall junior high students living as far away as 2 1/2 miles had to begin walking to school, a circumstance which members of BHCA feel is intolerable.

Parents' chief concern is that morning and afternoon traffic hazards on Mt. Vernon and 69th streets make the long trek dangerous and that an accident involving one of their children is inevitable.

'Too Tired to Learn'
Some have said that the 2 to 2 1/2 mile walk leaves their children too tired to learn when they get to school. One parent told board members she would not send her child to school during the coming rainy season.

While board members have listened sympathetically to the comments of parents, they have indicated they will not reverse their policy.

According to school Superintendent Robert Sutton, 23 junior high students living in the Broadway Heights area are affected by the cutback. All attend Lemon Grove Junior High.

The cutbacks affected all district junior high students, but Broadway Heights parents have been the only group to register a complaint so far.

Broadway Heights is a segment of the Lemon Grove School District that extends into the City of San Diego west of 69th street.

New Bus Ruled Out

A new bus, termed essential for continuing the previous level of service, would cost the district a minimum $22,000, Sutton said. $28,000 was a more-often quoted figure during summer meetings.

The district has not purchased a new large bus in more than four years. Seven full-size buses and two smaller transport vans comprise the school district's fleet.

This year, however, the board did budget a smaller van to transport its EMR students.

Too Late for Change

Trustee Jim Dorman told BHCA members that the budget, right or wrong, was set for the year.

"Maybe we're wrong," added Trustee Henry Reinecke, "But we're just finding out about it now."

Reinecke said that after-the-fact public input was an unfortunate commonplace regarding school board decisions in Lemon Grove. He cited lack of parent input at most board meetings, particularly during the summer months when the bus cuts were being considered.

"I don't think you can burden us by our not outguessing you," he told the parents in defending the decision.

Association members responded by charging that the board gave inadequate notice of board meetings and agenda notes.

That sidelight prompted Supt. Sutton to expand the distribution of advance notice of meeting literature.

In addition to notifying the local press and posting meeting notices in all school offices, material will now be sent to PTA presidents, presidents of the two community school advisory committees in the district, active community associations, the president of the Music Parents Assn. and the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce.

It was also suggested that the district contact service clubs, churches and the various youth groups and seasonal athletic group leaders to inquire if they would like to be placed on the mailing list.

Mailed notification to all parents and notices sent home with students were both ruled a prohibitive expense.

At last week's meeting, members of BHCA brought up questions about the budget, criticized school board operations and asked the board to again consider action on their request.

Verna Quinn, leader of BHCA, opened the issue by presenting a news clipping to board member Leonard Klee who has opined at past meetings that public transportation is more hazardous than walking the streets.

The newspaper clipping, about a Pennsylvania Department of Education study, disputed Klee's view and was said to prove statistically that bus riding was safer.

Quiz Trustees
Some parents had examined the budget and posed more specific questions regarding the bus cut decision and other allocations.

"What criteria was used to consider the elimination of bus service?" one parent asked.

Supt. Sutton explained that the spiraling cost of operating and maintaining buses, State Legislature's formula reductions in state transportation subsidy in suburban areas and the pressing need to purchase new vehicles to renew the aging fleet led to the decision to initiate a phase-out policy.

State support for transportation has declined in Lemon Grove to the point where local taxes pay nearly 80 per cent of the cost of operation. Five years ago, locally levied taxes paid only half the cost.

The purchase of the smaller van for EMR students was determined more critical since each of the district's two present vans have more than 150,000 miles on them.

EMR students are bused daily to Santee since Lemon Grove does not have a special program for them.

Was bus service the only item singled out for budget cuts?

No, the Superintendent answered. Four or five items were discussed during budget negotiations. One other resulted in the elimination of a $20,000-a-year administrative staff position.

Why can the district not use a portion of its $600,000 reserve funds to pay the added costs of busing?

Sutton, with help from assistant administrators, explained that $176,000 had been earmarked for salary and benefit increases for classified and management employees. Some $200,000 more is set aside for the district's building repayment debt and the remainder is a customary minimum percentage to be held in reserve.

Also, negotiations for a teachers pay raise are expected to have a further impact upon the reserve funds.

"Generally speaking, a one per cent increase in employees salaries and benefits costs the district $35,000," Sutton said.

Classified and management employees were awarded a 5 per cent cost of living increase this year.

None of the board members gave a sign last week that there was any change in their position regarding bus service. All feel that money is better spent on academic expenses.

Board Approves Report

Grove Parents Lack Knowledge of School Services, Study Shows

More knowledge of school programs and services is seen as the most critical need of the Lemon Grove School District, according to a report presented to the school board last week.

The Citizens Committee on Goals Review presented findings of a June telephone survey involving more than 150 households in the district.

In presenting the report and summary comments by both the committee and Assistant Superintendent Jim Justeson, Committee Chairman Bill Talbot told the board that improvement in school-parent communications was one of the most critical needs in the district which serves more than 3000 students at six elementary and two junior high schools.

Recent school board candidates Carol Chubb and Charles Pennell served on the goals committee.

Remarks showed that while a strong majority (87%) said they received enough information about school programs and activities, follow-up questions relating to more specific areas of study and services received less positive responses.

Uniformed Parents

"Knowledge of specific district activities was not known by at least 25 per cent of the parents and in some cases by over half the parents," the committee reported.

High percentages of the respondents either had no opinion or no knowledge of a number of district services.

Between 40 and 60 per cent knew little or refused to state an opinion about the district's drug and alcohol abuse education, career education, programs for gifted and handicapped students, foreign language instruction, drama, counseling and social work.

Another 42.1 per cent did not answer whether the district had satisfactory representation of ethnic minority employees.

Most Feel Welcome

The most positive response was to the question, "When you visit your child's school, does the staff make you feel welcome?" Parents 94.8 per cent of the time answered yes, 3.9 per cent no, 1.3 uncertain.

Less than half thought the school was encouraging alternatives to sarcasm, ridicule and physical punishment as means of controlling student behavior.

Most neutral or negative responses to this item came from parents of junior high students, it was learned. The school staff recommended improving communications between junior high teachers and parents.

The goals committee told the board that their role is "one of educating the parents so they can subsequently make sound decisions on key district issues and more effectively utilize their schools."

The Committee recommended a yearly District publication to go out at the beginning of each school year to describe District programs.

Justeson spoke for the district administrators by expressing a "positive feeling" about the report and acknowledging the need to improve communications with parents.

He pointed out an improvement in the public reaction to the quality of libraries and media centers. While earlier surveys in previous years indicated a lack of such facilities, 79 per cent of the parents now feel these services meet their expectations.

ASCA Chief Knocks Gov. On Anti-Ed

Dr. William Noble, head of the Association of California School Administrators, has spoken out against what he terms Governor Edmund Brown's "negative posture on public education."

Speaking before ASCA's Representative Assembly meeting in Oakland last week, Noble said, "It's time that Governor Brown stops taking cheap shots at public education and offers constructive suggestions instead of destructive actions."

Noble cited the governor's recent veto of the RISE (Reform in Secondary and Intermediate Education) Legislation as the latest example of the governor's sentiments toward public education.

"Gov. Brown, while continually contending that public education is going downhill, has done nothing constructive to help educators meet our increasingly difficult challenge," Noble said.

The RISE legislation was prepared after a commission studied the needs of secondary students in California. Dr. Leland Newcomer, superintendent of the Grossmont Union High School District, headed that commission.

He compared the RISE veto with Brown's signing of the Hart Bill which sets proficiency standards for high school graduates in math and reading. Noble pointed out that the RISE program, too, would have established proficiency standards.
